

Can You See the Window?

How many of us keep our eyes on the door? We wait for it to open so that we can step into the next part of our journey. The open door calls us into a new adventure; a hope for rejuvenation. If only that door would open, we would gladly respond, but it stays locked. It will not budge. In its place is left frustration and disappointment.

We remain so fixated on the door that we fail to see the open window on the other side of the room. It is the gateway to what we can be, but we are not aware the window is even there. We are missing incredible opportunities because the door gets in our way. There must be a way that we can look past what we expect and embrace what can be.

Today I am grateful that we are not limited to a door, but endless possibilities in which we can step into the light of hope and love. God's path does not always lead us into what is expected but encourages us to journey through unexpected possibilities. We are called to journey, no matter where the path may lead. Wherever we go, Holy Light will be there to guide us through the darkest of places.

Praise be to our God, who guides us on the journey. May we remember that windows can sometimes lead us to great adventures that may never be found through a door. We must be willing to look around the room to discover the possibilities. Let us take the leap in faith to discover the sacred riches. Thanks be to God, who gives us the victory in Christ, our Lord.

Take care as you embark on a new and exciting journey.

Thank you for the laughter,
 For the good times that we share,
 Thanks for always listening,
 For trying to be fair.
 Thank you for your comfort,
 When things are going bad,
 Thank you for the shoulder,
 To cry on when I'm sad.
 This poem's a reminder that
 All my life through,
 I'll be thanking heaven
 For a special dad like you.

God

Clear-Headed Faith

Most often ... worry is a lack of confidence in life, in its purpose, in God. Faith in life - in God - is native to the human spirit. Worry is faith in reverse. Not only because most of the things we are anxious over never come to pass, but also because, when we worry, the most obvious things to do in our situation are overlooked. We should relax our tension by trusting God and putting at the disposal of that trust a clear head. Howard Thurman, Deep Is the Hunger
